AT CHICAGO TAPPI MEETING

Cecil to Present Color Management Session

Color Resolutions International's (CRI) Carl Cecil, graphic and educational specialist, will present "Color Management... by the Numbers," at Chicago TAPPI's evening program titled "Enhancing Your Print Capabilities" on March 6. He has more than 30 years of experience in graphics and design.

"I always ask participants if they are currently printing to their greatest potential or do they struggle from job to job," he says. "Color is a variable and we all see color differently. With color management, we can attach a number to that variable that helps us control and manage our color reproduction process."

Jack Fulton, vice president of sales for Printron, and Jonathan Dunlap, senior technical service representative of graphics for RockTenn, will also be presenting at the evening program. It kicks off with a technical workshop and a visit to a Chicago sheet plant, with industry experts available for questions, followed by the evening program, including dinner.
